Job Description

The successful candidate will meet with engineers and other technical experts from a variety of our clients who are preparing funding applications for innovative technology projects. After discussing project details, the candidate will prepare a brief technical report explaining the nature of the project for review by a direct supervisor. The candidate will also help support day-to-day activities, collect technical information from clients, and collaborate with our small team.

The chosen candidate will be expected to:

- Attend meetings (along with Stratesol Technical Manager(s)) with various engineering and technology professionals to learn more about their project work
- Prepare and revise technical reports to summarize discussions for funding proposals
- Self-inform on new and existing innovation funding program requirements (SR&ED, Govt Grants, etc.)
- Support day-to-day activities

Job Requirements

The ideal candidate:

- Has or is currently seeking a degree in engineering, science, technology, or a related field
- Has strong writing and communication skills and is comfortable contributing to and leading meetings
- Is experienced/proficient using various data, client, and project management tools (Excel, Monday, G-Suite)
- Is comfortable being in a social role and enjoys working with new people

- Is flexible with both remote work, in-person meetings, and client office/site visits
- Is legally authorized to work in Canada

Citizenship Requirement N/A
