Job title: Automation test developer co-op

Location: Toronto

Are you our next Rising Star?

You're studying hard and it's time to start your next adventure. You have big ideas and you want to voice them. And you want to become part of a company that gives you everything you need to create winning moments for yourself and millions of players around the world. Welcome to Flutter International.

So, who are we? We're home to some of the biggest, most exciting brands in the online gaming industry, with offices, events and players all over the world. We're the ultimate owner of such brands as PokerStars, PokerStars Casino, Sky Bet, Betfair International, and FanDuel as well as live poker tour and event brands.

This role follows a hybrid approach to working, allowing you to combine working from home with working in our modern offices. These discussions are between you and your manager to find the best pattern for you both, while recognising that quality time together is essential for keeping us mission-aligned.

Your seat is open.

What you'll be doing

- Developing and maintaining automation tests.
- Executing automated regression tests on a regular basis.
- Analyzing automated test failures and escalate to respective development teams.
- Debugging and investigating software failures.
- Identifying root cause of automated test failures.
- Gathering testing requirements from QA analysts and product owners.
- Working closely with QA analysts and software developers.
- Attending daily stand-up meetings and be responsible for communicating all issues, status and progress
- Performing multiple tasks at the same time

What do we need from you?

Essential

- 2+ year on the Computer Science Bachelor
- Java Experience.
- Excellent organizational and time management skills
- Knowledge of SQL.
- Task driven with a great attitude and excellent communication/interpersonal skills.
- Ability to work in a fast-paced environment, initiative and innovative thinking.
- Ability to work multiple tasks at the same time.

Desirable

- Knowledge of testing methodologies.
- Experience with Source Version Control Systems (Git)
- Experience with JIRA
- Experience with test automation tools

The Process

We'll aim to get back to you within 14 days of applying. After that, you'll be invited to complete a video interview. If successful, you'll then be invited to an interview.

We'll take your summer plans into consideration when organising a start date but ideally we'd like the successful candidate to start at the beginning of September 2025 for 4 months.

Perks and Benefits

The salary for this job is competitive for the co-op market, so whilst we are not able to go into detail at this stage, we can say that we offer great salary packages.
