Job Description

Employer: iA Financial Group

Office: 988 Broadway West

Location: Vancouver, British Columbia

• Other Possible Location(s): Toronto, Ontario

Job category: Internships and Student Employment

Job ID: JR10024811

Job type: Student Job

Apply before: February 13, 2026

Description

Build the future with us

Are you driven by numbers and eager to contribute to the purpose of a company that helps its clients feel confident and secure about their future? As an Actuarial Co-op Student, you will play a key role in supporting actuarial teams and gaining hands-on experience in financial analysis and reporting.

This position is a great opportunity to showcase your skills and fully realize your potential within a caring and trustworthy company. Here, people and their development are at the heart of our priorities, fostering an environment that encourages collaboration and innovation.

What you'll accomplish with us

As an Actuarial Co-op Student, you'll be at the core of our mission. Here are the main responsibilities:

- Participate in month-end and quarter-end valuation activities, including running reserves and updating spreadsheets for earnings analysis.
- Conduct actuarial analyses and assist with gains and losses reviews.
- Support special projects such as profitability studies and trend analysis.
- Assist with the production of various reports by gathering and organizing required information.
- Respond to data requests and provide technical support to actuarial analysts and advisors.

Why you'll love working with us

- A work environment where learning and development merge with a collective pursuit of excellence.
- A healthy, safe, fair, and inclusive environment where potential can be freely expressed and developed.
- The opportunity to work in a hybrid environment, supported by flexibility and access to inspiring and innovative workspaces.
- Benefits for students: access to internal training, mentoring, involvement in real projects, flexible schedules adapted to studies, and a valuable experience to enhance your professional journey.

Apply now and get ahead of your career, where your talent really belongs!

Still unsure about applying?

At iA, we believe in potential and value diverse experiences. If this role inspires you, go ahead and apply - your place might be with us, and we want to get to know you!

For positions posted in British Columbia:

The typical hiring range for this position is between $30.00 and $34.00 CAD per hour; the base salary offered may vary depending on knowledge, skills, years of experience, and internal equity related to the role. At iA, we are committed to offering a fair, equitable, and market-based compensation structure. Our market data is updated annually to reflect the most current market conditions.

Job Requirements

What could accelerate your success in this role

We're looking for someone who:

- Is known for their strong analytical and problem-solving skills.
- Stands out for their attention to detail and ability to follow established procedures.
- Demonstrates proficiency in Excel, Access, Python, and R (GLMs, tidyverse).
- Is recognized for their ability to manipulate large data sets and familiarity with SQL.
- Has previous office experience and exceptional verbal and written communication skills.
- Is currently pursuing an undergraduate degree in actuarial science.
- Asset: Knowledge of IFRS 17 and/or AXIS.
- Availability: Full-time for 8 months, flexible start date.

Citizenship Requirement                    N/A
